Don't deny the feeling that is stealing through your heart, every happy ending has to have a start

MEN

I don't know what I'm searching for . . .
I never have opened the door

All my life I never really knew me till today, now I know I'm just another step along the way

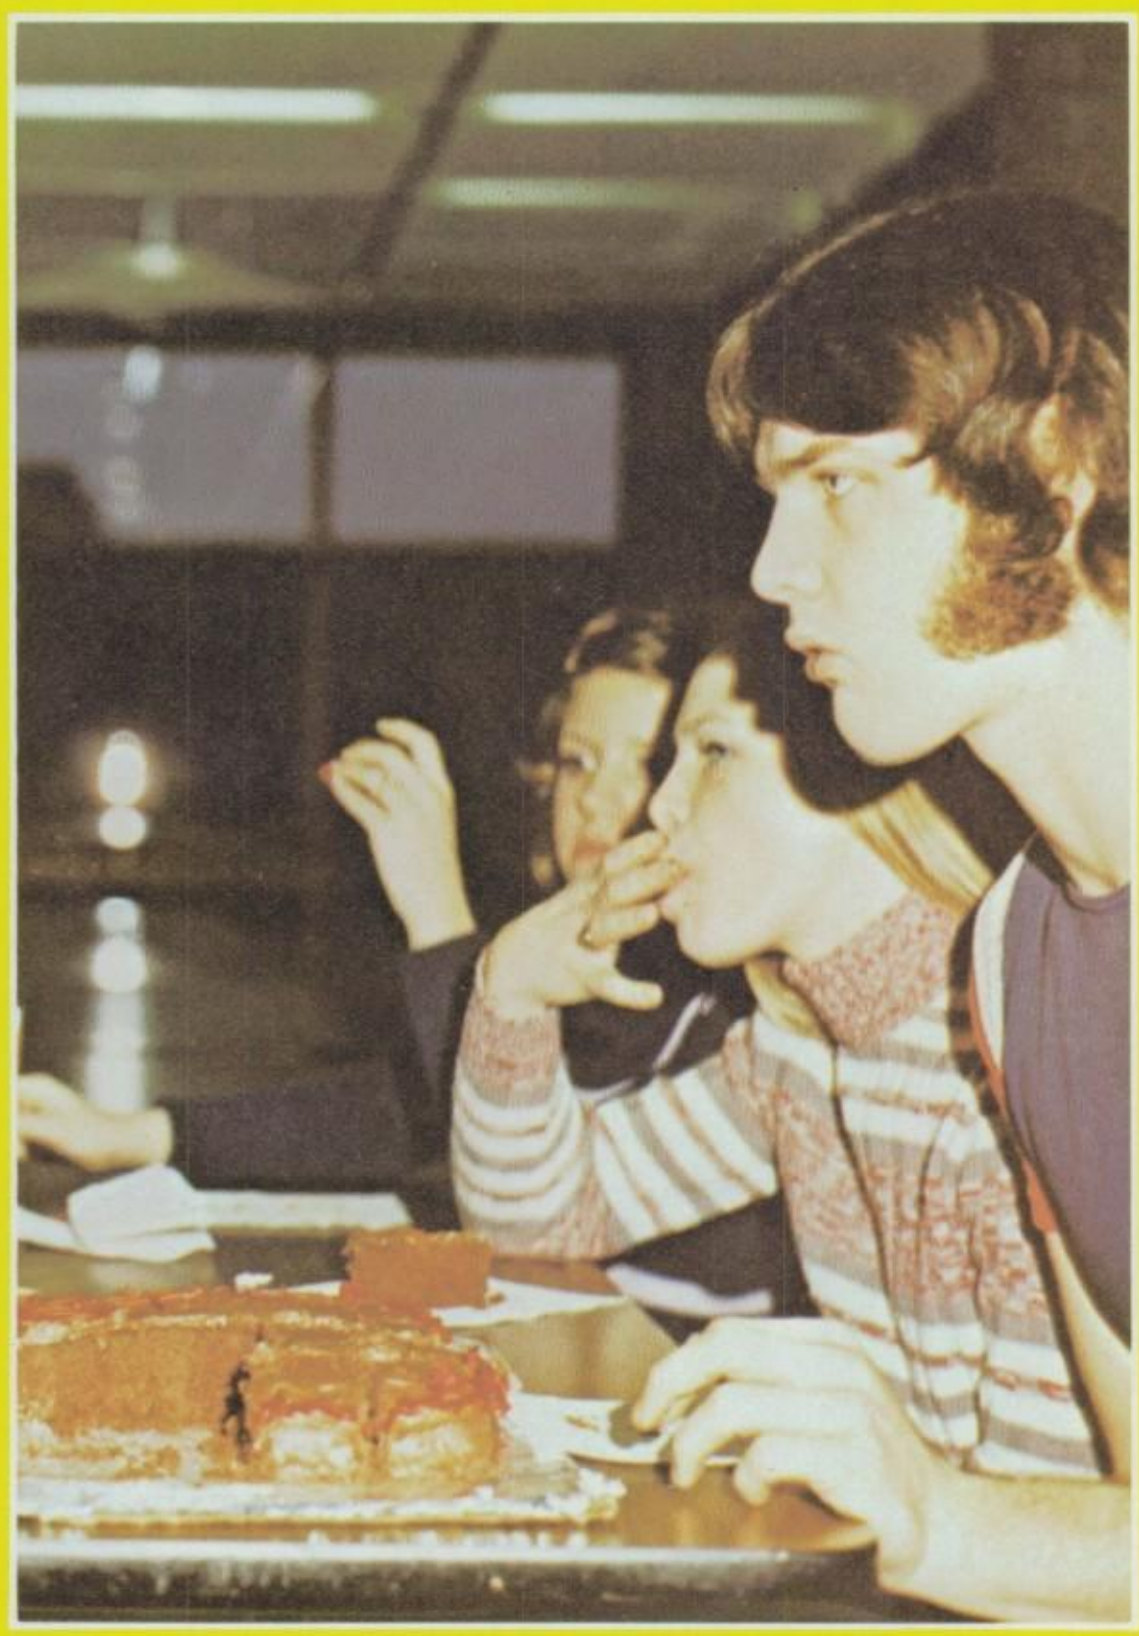
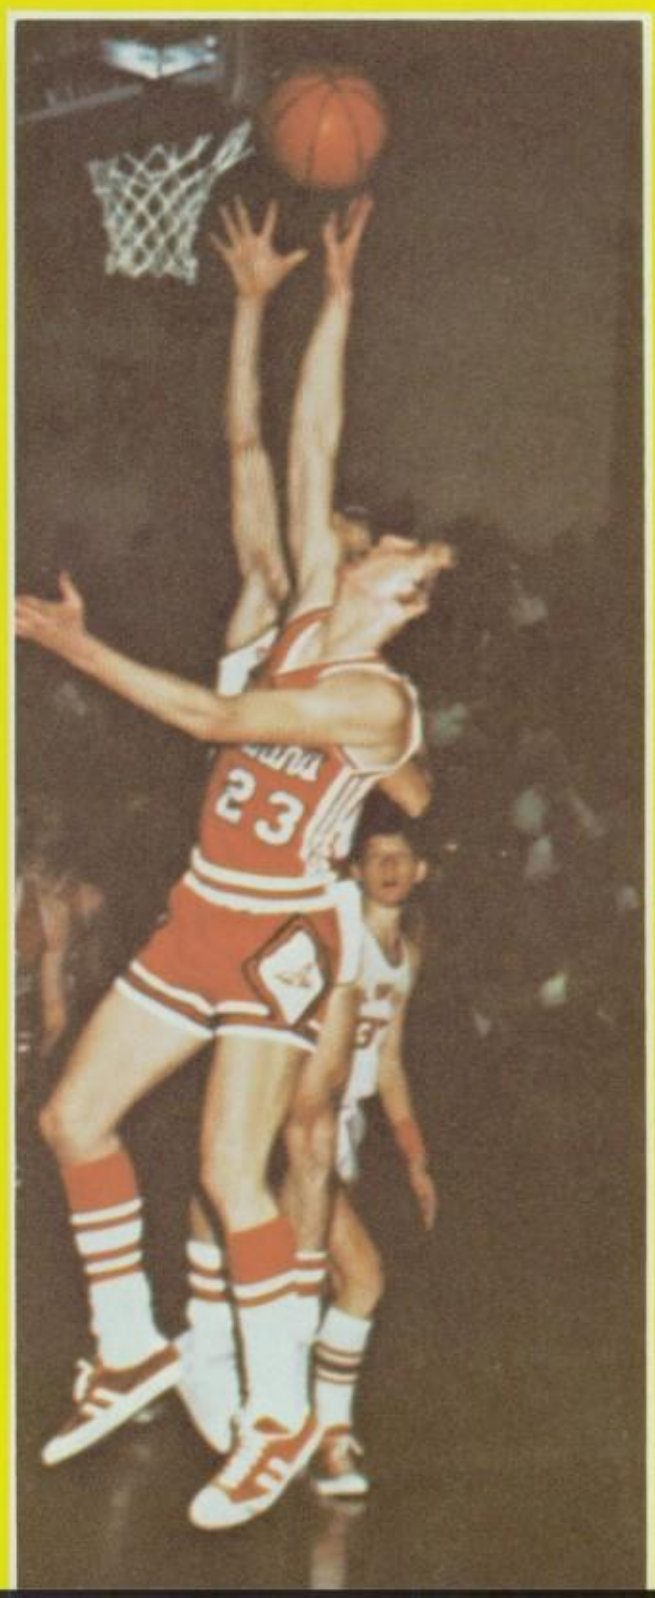
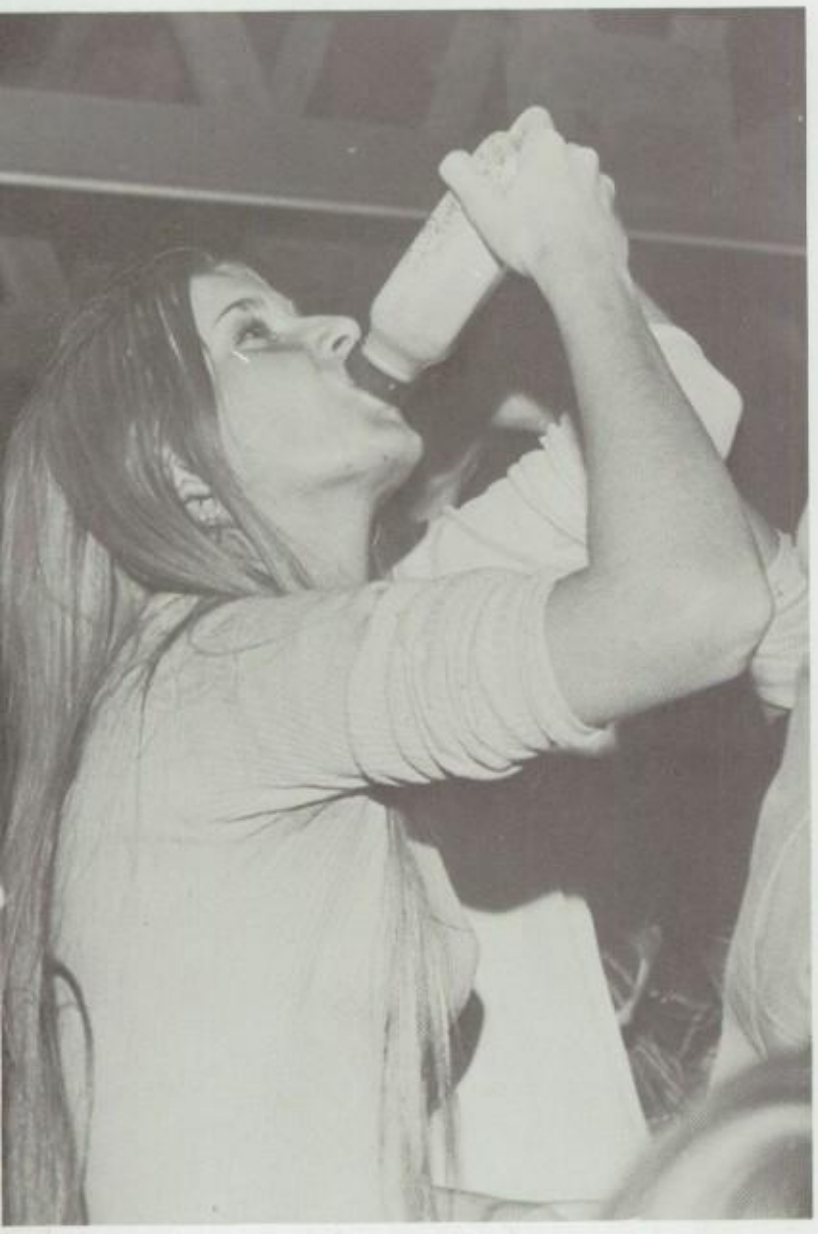
Team



We can't return, we can only look behind from where we came





Yesterday a child came out to wonder --- words like "when you're older" must appease him and promises of "someday" make his dreams

Tomorrow may find me at last
. . . turning my back on the past

Good Corporate Neighbor

Eaton's Fluid Power Division is a long-time good neighbor to the Marshall community. For over 45 years it has provided a livelihood for many families in the area while producing important and innovative products for the transportation industry.

Today Eaton's is proud of the leadership it has provided in an extremely competitive field. It's just as proud of the efforts it has made — and is making — to make sure that its factory does nothing to harm our environment with pollutants — be they visual, discharge or noise.

Eaton's is also pleased to participate in many community causes and was a leader in the recent drive to save Oaklawn Hospital. The company is also happy to take part in the high school's co-op education program.

Its current co-op student is Alan Bennett, a Marshall High senior who's working in the Metallurgy Lab. There Alan has an opportunity to work with industry in action. His jobs include conducting contamination audits and water analyses, doing hardness testing and preparing metallographic samples.

Tho' his dreams
have lost some grandeur coming true, there'll be new dreams,
maybe better dreams,
and plenty —
before the last revolving year is through.
